HAVANA- CUBA

Fri, 15.06.2018, 5.00pm

Vitrina de Valonia in Havana

Exhibition Horta's Imaginary Journey to Havana

Composed of drawings by teenagers from the workshop of Barcelona-La Habana Space, who were inspired by details of the work of the Belgian architect Victor Horta, the exhibition also presents some photographs by Belgian photographer Paul Louis on the house and studio of Victor Horta, one of the precursors of Art Nouveau.

In addition, for this occasion, the space Barcelona-Havana presents its travelling exhibition "A style which unites us", in which two handmade expressions are related: the bobbin lace and the forge in the Catalan modernist style, as a variant of Art Nouveau. Both techniques produce lace-like designs in their compositions, which can be seen on balconies located mainly in Havana. The work was done by weavers from the Bolillos lace workshop of the Barcelona - Havana space.

A mirror exhibition, entitled "Horta's Imaginary Journey to Havana" will be presented this summer at the Horta Museum in Brussels, which will show the outcomes of workshops for children in the classroom-Museum of Wallonia organized by the specialists of the Horta Museum in November 2016.

An exhibition of pictures of Paul Louis presenting the Horta Museum at the Vitrina de Valonia was the pretext for introducing children to the different techniques and language of the architect Victor Horta through creative workshops. Comic workshops were also organized during the same week by Maison Autrique, and resulted in a joint exhibition. The visit of the exhibition "The Nature of Art Nouveau" developed by the RANN presented at the Palacio de Secundo Cabo in Havana was an opportunity to raise children's awareness on European Art Nouveau but also their own Art Nouveau heritage, which will also be presented during the exhibition Horta's Imaginary Journey to Havana.
